

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Switzerland, 11.07.2017

Meritis Group creates a joint venture with Simgun GmbH to further strengthen its position as a leading supplier of tactical simulation systems.

The Swiss headquartered defence company, Meritis AG, announced the acquisition of a substantial part of Simgun GmbH, a manufacturer of one of the leading advanced force-on-force outdoor simulation equipment.

With this JV, Meritis generates substantial synergies to the current simulation portfolio with Virtra Simulators. In addition to the top of the range indoor video based simulation systems, Meritis clients can further increase their defence and training programs by having access to outdoor force-on-force simulation. Simgun will get immediate direct access to Meritis' global sales network in the law enforcement and defence sector.

Contact

Marcel Thoma
CEO Meritis Group

marcel.thoma@meritis.ch

Patrick Riedesser

CEO Simgun

patrick.riedesser@simgun.com

About Meritis

For over seventeen years, Meritis has been supporting clients internationally in the defence industry, focusing on simulation systems and integrated drone defence systems.

www.meritis.ch

About Simgun

Simgun has a track record of over seven years in force-on-force simulation, and has over the years developed one of the best systems available.

www.simgun.com